

Dried goji berries (small) organic China

These coral-red goji berries, also known as buckthorn berries, have a fruity, slightly tart and mildly sweet flavour with a firm, dry consistency. These small, intensely red power berries are a true superfood, rich in fibre. They have been traditionally grown in China for centuries and are perfect for adding to mueslis, as a topping, in mixes, for baking, and for cooking, giving a unique visual and flavourful touch to oriental rice dishes and curries.
