

Coarsely cut organic mate leaves (mate tea)

Our organic mate leaves produce a typically aromatic, full-bodied, slightly smoky and slightly bitter-tasting tea. Mate is invigorating and contains a similar amount of caffeine as coffee. This makes it the ideal drink for particularly awake hours. Did you know that mate tea enjoys the status of a national drink in Argentina and Brazil? That mate is becoming increasingly popular worldwide, but is only grown in a few countries in South America? That mate tea is typically drunk from a hollowed-out gourd (calabash) with a straw (bombilla)? From South America to South Africa: Try our Organic Rooibos tea.
